The company

Our company is one of the largest producers of cold-water shrimp in Canada.

About

Newfound Resources Limited was founded in 1986 by 25 Newfoundland seafood companies to harvest and deliver large quantities of groundfish for the benefit of Newfoundland factories. Following the demise of the Canadian groundfish stocks, NRL received an offshore shrimp license in 1991 and transformed into one of Canada's largest shrimp companies.

Vessels

The company's flagship vessel, "Newfound Pioneer," harvests 8000 metric tons of coldwater shrimp annually and the company procures additional products from third parties, as well as vessels managed through a subsidiary company.

On February 4th, 2017 NRL welcomed the Newfoundland Victor to its fleet. This brand new, state-of-the-art vessel was built according to class notation CLEAN, covering requirements for design and equipment which reduce the environmental impact from emissions to air, discharges to sea, and deliveries to shore from vessels. The Newfoundland Victor is Canada's first "green" fishing vessel.

Sustainability

Sustainability is more than just a catchphrase. At NRL we take sustainability seriously and we know that maintaining a healthy resource dictates the future well-being of all stakeholders including our employees, our suppliers, our partners, and our company. We also know that permission to prosecute a fishery carries with it a tremendous responsibility to ensure that the fishery resource remains robust and healthy for the benefit of the generations that follow.

It's all about balance, respect, and coexistenceand we're serious about that.
