Information For over four generations, the Parreira Family has been farming in Los Banos. As farmers, we are Mother Nature's caretakers and protectors and we take that responsibility seriously so our orchards, as well as those of our growers, are farmed in a sustainable manner.

We supply buyers from every part of the globe with high quality almonds they can rely on - each and every time. We continue to invest in technology and state-of-the-art equipment to deliver the highest quality product. These investments result in less chipping, breaking and foreign material throughout the entire process.
