Information Valley Pride Ag Company is a supply chain company and exporter of food ingredients from California. We specialize in California Almonds and support who we believe are the finest almond growers, huller/shellers, and packers in California. We don't want to be the biggest - we want to be the best. The best service, the best information, and the best value. We want to be connected more than just transactionally to the products we sell and export. We We have expertise in the supply chain of each product all the way back to the farm and understand the demands of everchanging, ever improving, customers.
